I spent 12 hours on the NMT lab. It was quite the struggle, but I thought that PyTorch was fascinating and I will be writing as much as I can of future code in PyTorch. I spent most my time looking at state of the art NMT systems and fiddling with examples and the scaffolding code to get the encoder/decoder to work (they don't quite yet). I think that I would like to keep working on in the future.